BEST SUGAR ARGUMENT

In the three-column speech by President Bitting at the U. S. Sugar company meeting there was hardly a word about what the Everglades industry can do for the American consumer. In fact the only reference to the housewife's interest was casual mention in taking a crack at some incidental dirty work by the Cubans which contributed to the advance in retail prices before President Roosevelt lifted the quotas last fall.

At about the time Mr. Bitting was speaking Congressman Peterson at Washington issued a statement reporting that the sub-committee trying to draft a new sugar bill couldn't get together on a "control" program. He also failed to mention the consumer's interest, saying that the cause of the deadlock was inability of the producers to agree on dividing the loot. The burden of Mr. Bitting's cry is an appeal for fairness to the Everglades industry and the labor it employs on the ground that it is American all way through. Congressman Peterson cites the same motive in working to benefit his state by getting the sugar quotas abolished. That is fine, of course. Congress ought to be fair to the U. S. Sugar company and Congressman Peterson ought to work for the benefit of his state. But there is a reason 48 times better than that; in fact many million times better. Ending the quota system would not only help the sugar company and Florida but would benefit millions of consumers in all 48 states.

That is the basis on which the battle should be waged. The consumer angle is the important point and should always be stressed. After all, the prosperity of the U. S. Sugar company is not a matter of great concern to people more than a day's ride from Cleveland and the argument of benefit to Florida has little appeal beyond this state's borders. But the price of sugar interests people everywhere. They don't care so much whether it comes from Cuba, Florida or the beet states but they do care how much they have to pay for it. That's where Florida has the advantage and it never should be overlooked by spokesmen for our cause. It is a just cause principally for the reason that it benefits the American people as a whole. Florida can supply them with sugar cheaper than any other producing area in the world. Therefore Florida should be allowed to produce all it can. That's all there is to it and neither politically nor economically is there a better argument. — F. Myers News-Press.

GONE WITH THE WIND PAYS

The opinion of most of those who have seen Gone With the Wind seems to be that it is one of the best, if not the best movie ever thrown on the screen. This general opinion also seems to be in for a good backing by box office records. We doubt if there has ever been any picture which attracted so much popular attention in its first appearance.

Originally scheduled for one week in Orlando, it was shown to full houses and then held over for another week, and finally for most of the third week. In Miami more than a hundred thousand persons were said to have seen the picture. In Tampa it is now in its third week and has broken all attendance records, even exceeding the unprecedented high reached by Snow White.

It is now playing in 156 theatres in 150 cities throughout the United States. In its first eight weeks it has grossed $5,567,000, or sufficient to place Producer Selznick definitely out of the red. With prices ranging up to $2.50 a seat, it has broken box records almost everywhere. In its first year and a half it is now expected to gross over $20,000,000 providing a handsome profit for those who took the chance.

The Birth of a Nation, previous biggest hit, grossed $15,000,000, not in a year and a half, but in the years since it was first shown. The Big Parade and Ben Hur grossed $10,000,000 each. Snow White, most recent picture, has brought $8,000,000 into the box office. It seems more than likely that Gone With the Wind will set a new record for movie producers of the future to shoot at.—Sanford Herald.

"Should the people of Palm Beach County again see fit to re-elect me as their state representative, I will treasure their confidence and support and I will hold this office in the future as I have held it in the past, a sacred trust of the people."

Conservation Job Gets Underway In Deep Everglades

Federal Government And State Join In Soil Program

A work plan of soil conservation, water control and fire protection formulated by a corps of technicians sent here by the federal government is under way in the Everglades area north and west of Miami.

The program, which started February 15 and will continue through June, is divided into three phases, as follows:

1. Construction program.—The construction of three detention dikes, two the North New River canal and two control dams in the Miami canal. Two of the four dams in the North New River canal will be constructed by the city of Miami in connection with the program to guarantee the city water supply.

The construction of a canal dike along the east bank of the North New River canal.

These dams and dikes will form a co-ordinated system for the control of canal levels and the diversion of surplus waters into the central part of the Everglades, and will provide a system for demonstrating and investigating the feasibility, efficiency and economy of this method of raising water levels and conserving water.

Surveys to provide alignments and grades for the proposed construction, to establish the control lines and levels essential to laying out future work and determining the controlling water levels, to give water level control, to determine the general topography controlling the direction of flow of flood waters and extent of the lands submerged at various stages of this fiscal year. A soils technician will accompany each survey party to determine type and depth of soil, and character of underlying material.

Aerial photographs of the Everglades Drainage District to be made at a cost of $12,575.

Research and investigation program: No funds are available for installation of ground water wells, collection of records of water level and hydrologic observations. It is expected that rain and water level gauges at such equipment may be borrowed from some other government agency or some other field location within the Soil Conservation Service of the department of agriculture.

In the original budget which totaled $75,000 funds were provided for research and investigation considered necessary to determine the effectiveness of the proposed work plan. When it became apparent that the state of Florida would not expend more than $40,000 during the fiscal year 1940, it became necessary to curtail federal expenditures this year in the total sum expended by the Soil Conservation Service would not exceed that expended by and through the Everglades Fire Control Commission.

Mr. Morrow said: "I wish to announce to the people of Palm Beach County that I will be a candidate to succeed myself for the office of State Representative of Palm Beach County in group one, subject to the will of the democratic voters of my county, in the Primary Election of May 1940."

 practiced his profession when the first railroad was built in this territory, and as a surveyor he knows the geography and terrain of this county as no other man knows it. He was the county engineer when roads in the upper Glades were laid out. As he knows the physical characteristics of the county, so too he knows the people of the county; he knows the towns and cities of the county as well as the rural sections; for he was a member of the city commission of West Palm Beach in the period of the city's largest growth.

In his position as clerk of the court he has done more than to supervise the routine duties of the office—his encyclopedic knowledge of public affairs, the relation of the county to the state and of the state to the county, of the county to the citizen and the citizen to the county, has made his service broad and valuable. On the whole Palm Beach county is a well governed county, and this is due in large measure to the fact that the voters have shown good judgment to utilize the abilities of men of ability and integrity like George O. Butler.

Coach Frank Hobson announces that there will be no game scheduled between the Pahokee and Lawrenceburg teams for the 1940 season, on account of distance and expense. Most of the ten games will be played with teams from nearby schools, but does not include any game with any Dade county school.

R. K. Harris, Belle Glade agent for the Postal Telegraph Company, has gone to the Bay Pines hospital at St. Petersburg for an indefinite stay, to receive observation and treatment for his physical ailments. He has long been in failing health.

A new pool room has taken occupancy of the former Green store on Avenue A in Belle Glade.

Ask Federal Help On Hiway System
DeLand, Feb. 28.—Florida's legislative highway program committee, composed jointly of Senate and House members, today addressed letters to the Florida Congressional delegation asking its help in obtaining emergency Federal aid funds amounting to $5,350,000.
"In view of the fact that Florida has no surplus funds with which to meet this emergency," the committee said in its letter, read at the State Road Department meeting, "and in view of the further fact that our entire present system of highways is in jeopardy, unless repairs are made at once, an emergency is created which demands some prompt and forceful attention."
The group said $2,800,000 is needed for immediate repair of highways damaged by the January freeze, an additional $1,500,000 to make proper approaches to the various air base and military activities, and the road department is faced with a gasoline tax revenue loss as a result of the freeze amounting to $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.
The letter was presented to the road board by State Senator Joe Shatt of Port St. Joe and Rep. John S. Burks of Pasco County.
At the request of road department members, the highway committee agreed to ask the State Chamber of Commerce to adopt similar resolutions to be sent to Florida Senators and representatives in Washington.
At a Tallahassee meeting in January, the board approved a tentative budget calling for an expenditure of $24,108,621 and estimated 1940 revenue at $21,928,575, leaving a prospective deficit of $2,180,046.
Since that time the commission's figures have been upped.
Cold weather damaged roads in North and Northwest Florida and State road engineers estimated it will cost $2,800,000 to repair them. Loss of the truck and vegetable crops, a large portion of which is hauled by truck, will reduce gasoline tax revenues from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, the board said.
The board also is faced with requests for construction of proper approaches to the various military establishments the Federal government is building in Florida. These will cost, engineers said, $1,500,000.

Farm Stock Field Day Friday—Mar. 8
Announcement has been made that the annual Farm Stock Field Day at the Everglades Experimental Farm will be held on Friday, March 8, in charge of Dr. K. K. K. and his associates. These stock shows and sales have been annual affairs for some years past and are always attended by a large company of stockmen and buyers.
An interesting program will be provided, including inspection of stock fields of forage, followed by the sale of cattle which have been under feeding process.
During the past year Dr. K. K. K. had large herds of range cattle under experimentation and feedings and these are the ones which will be sold to the highest bidder, who usually come from the stock markets of Jacksonville, West Palm Beach, Ocala, and Kissimmee.
An inspection trip will be made of the Everglades Experimental Farm, which has been in poor health for some months past, will soon be removed from the safety of the Everglades where he has been for the past two months to New Orleans, La., where he will submit to a major operation. Tom came home for a few days, but was forced to return to Safety Harbor.

The county committee has fixed the filing fee at 5 percent of the yearly remuneration for which the candidate is an applicant. The filing fee for two-fifths goes to the county democratic committee and three-fifths to the county.

Tulips Are In Full Bloom for the First Time in This Area
Old-timers say they've never seen tulips bloom in the Lake Region before this year. Mrs. G. B. Sartoris of Canal Point has been successful in getting in bright tulips into full bloom. Some of the most beautiful tulips ever seen. Some are deep yellow in color and others are a deep purple. The petals are perfectly formed. Whether you know it or not—cold weather was the cause of the tulips blooming. It is said that a certain amount of cold weather is necessary before the delicate flowers will bloom. It would seem that we've had just the proper amount of "winter" to make tulips bloom on the mucklands of the Lake Okechobee Region.

Ripley will also descend in a photo-sub and will broadcast a play-by-play description of Ross Allen wrestling with a giant alligator. Allen's snake pen, with its 2,000 hissing rattlers, will also be featured, as a portion of the broadcast, with Ripley assisting the veteran snake handler in "milking" the venom from a huge reptile.
Ripley's program is carried over 89 stations of the Columbia network, including all of the major foreign listeners. It is estimated that the "Believe it or Not" program has more than 20 million listeners.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Herron and is a member of the Junior class of the Pahokee High school and a very popular young woman. Mr. Salvatore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Salvatore and is now in the employ of the State Highway Department at Okeechobee. A delightful wedding luncheon was served.

The Pahokee Seniority will present their annual class play in the high school auditorium, March 29. It was announced this week by Mrs. W. H. Willis, director. This year's presentation will be a three-act mystery play entitled, "One Mad Night," selected by a committee composed of Mrs. Swift, Marvin Urwin and Mrs. Willis after reading through 24 plays. A farm canning plant now is under construction and scheduled to be operating by spring, he said.

A feature of the hour was a beautiful solo entitled "Whisper of Prayer," sung by Mrs. Sanders, with Mrs. Cornelia Scott playing the piano accompaniment.

The new project called the "Sunshine Pal" was presented and adopted. Along this line the hostess presented each guest with a potted flower to take home for study of development. Mrs. J. M.
